REPORT NO. [REDACTED]

In early September 1951 the Revolutionary Military Council was planning to reorganize a Chemical Warfare Army Unit which was under its direct control. KU Chun-po (谷春波) was commander of this unit, which consisted of two battalions. One battalion was in the Ssup'ingchieh area and one in the Chinchou area. Both battalions were to be reorganized into regiments when 340 Chinese Communist troops, who were sent to Siberia in April 1950 for chemical warfare training, return to China in the near future after completing training and are assigned to this unit.
